

Mike Jenkins

“I am delighted to be judging this competition in support of a micro charity that delivers vital and life-changing projects through international partnership. I look forward to reading imaginative and original work.”

Mike has won many awards in his long writing career, including an Eric Gregory, Welsh Arts Council Young Writers Prize, and Wales Book of the Year for Wanting to Belong (Seren), a collection of short stories about young people from the South Wales Valleys.

His latest book is Seams of People (Carreg Gwalch), and he is the editor of Gwrthryfel/Uprising (Culture Matters), an anthology of radical poetry from Cymru/Wales.

Mike, a retired teacher, has co-edited 'Red Poets' magazine for 30 years.